

SiNAPSA Neuroscience Conference '09 with Educational Workshop on Memory

September 26-29 2009, Ljubljana, Slovenia

Like its two predecessors (in 2005 and 2007) the SiNAPSA Neuroscience Conference '09 is aiming to be an international event providing the neuroscientists in Slovenia and neighbouring countries with an opportunity to present their research and possibly set up new collaboration. Particular attention will be paid to multidisciplinary research and to the promotion of open scientific communication among junior researchers. The conference will include plenary talks, invited lectures in thematic symposia and poster sessions.

The basic structure of the conference is a string of independent but related symposia, which cover basic neurobiology (including molecular neurobiology, neurochemistry and animal model work), developmental and adult neurology, psychiatry, psychology, cognitive science and cognitive neuroscience.

The final program will be shaped in response to an open call for abstracts, which is still open until the 15th of July. Contributions from all fields of neuroscience including but not limited to the themes of the symposia are welcome. Most submissions will be accepted for poster presentation. However, a selected few will also be considered for inclusion into existing symposia as short oral presentations.

The Conference will be accompanied by an Educational Workshop on Memory primarily designed for psychiatry and neurology residents and clinical psychologists in training, however undergraduate students of medicine and psychology, and other students and interested professionals are welcome to attend.

Organizers and financial support

The conference is organized by SiNAPSA, Slovenian Neuroscience Association, and Faculty of Medicine, University of Ljubljana. It is financially supported by CEERC IBRO (Central and Eastern European Regional Committee of the International Brain Research Organisation), and Slovenian Research Agency (ARRS).
